

ALISA KOGAN

With more than seventeen years of experience in the architectural field, Alisa has been involved in design, project management, and construction administration of many commercial, educational, and residential projects. Alisa is noted for her knowledge of traditional design, her attention to detail, and her expertise in material and color selection.

Education

B. Arch., Odessa Civil Engineering Institute
Diploma of Honor

Experience with Allan Greenberg, Architect, LLC:

Alisa Kogan is now in the New York office and is working on a 19,000-s.f. residence in New Jersey. While working in the Washington office, she worked on several private residences in New York, Connecticut, and Ohio; Tercentenary Hall at the College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, VA; and The News Building, Athens, GA.

Other Professional Experience:

Designer/Project Manager for several restaurant projects in Washington, DC and northern Virginia, including a 244-seat southwestern restaurant with brewery and corporate office; a 220-seat restaurant with brewery, outdoor bar, and terrace; and a 470-seat restaurant with screened terrace and outdoor porch. Team member for renovation of Washington's historic Old Ebbitt Grill's Corner Bar.

Designer/Job Captain for several educational projects including a 125,000-s.f. middle school in northern Virginia with a library-media center, gymnasium, food service area, and performing arts space.

Designer for various multi-family and single-family residential projects including three-story English townhouse duplexes and a 10,000-s.f. French Country residence in Ann Arbor, MI.

Served as a team member for 50,000-s.f. renovation and addition of new academic building for the St. Albans School in Washington, DC and numerous high-end residences in Washington, DC and Middleburg, VA for which she had responsibility for exterior and interior design development.