

CHARLES BURLEIGH

Director of Interior Design, Charles Burleigh has been active in the design world for over thirty years. His knowledge and experience and his hands-on approach have given him the reputation of an expert in all aspects of interior design. His belief in total involvement in the project from conceptualization to the final installation gives him a special rapport with the client and a clear understanding of the client's ideas and needs. He is fluent in the traditional, modernist and contemporary idioms of design and enjoys the particular challenges of each, always seeking the highest quality in design integrity, materials and craftsmanship.

Education

BFA, Parsons School of Design, New York, NY
Professional Certificate, Environmental Design

Experience with Allan Greenberg, Architect, LLC:

Current projects under supervision: A 60,000 square foot residence under construction in Connecticut; an 1870' stone farm house and barn complex in suburban New York; modifications to a Park Avenue residence; the interiors for the recently relocated offices of Allan Greenberg, Architect, in New York City.

Other Professional Experience:

Throughout his expansive career, Charles has been responsible for the implementation of all aspects of residential and commercial interior design projects ranging from 2,000sf townhouses to 40,000sf estates and retail and commercial projects including Bottega Veneta and Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center in New York.