

JOHN F. DALE, AIA

Senior Associate John Dale is responsible for overseeing major projects and the management of the Washington, DC office. Over a twenty-year architectural career, John Dale has been involved in the design and construction of building types that range from intricate historic renovations to large-scale public facilities. His extensive industry experience ensures the comprehensive coordination of the entire project team for the successful realization of each building's programmatic, design, and budgetary goals.

Education/Licensing

B.A., Middlebury College

M. Arch., University of Virginia

Registered Architect, District of Columbia and Maryland

LEED AP

Experience with Allan Greenberg, Architect, LLC:

Project Manager for new 17,000 s.f. residence in McLean, VA and new 8,000 s.f. residence in Bethesda, MD. Project Manager for civic buildings at the new town of Haymont, VA. Project Manager of a 50,000 s.f. residence and grounds in West Hartford, CT. Project Architect for the restoration of an 18th-century property in Georgetown, Washington, DC; Project Manager for an 11,000-s.f. addition and renovation to a residence in Dallas, TX; Project Manager for the renovation of the Embassy of Luxembourg in Washington, DC; Project Manager for the D & D Building Renovation and Expansion in New York City; Project Manager for a 35,000-s.f. residence, accessory buildings, and landscaped grounds in Greenwich, CT; Project Manager for a 35,000-s.f. residence in Bel Air, CA; lead designer for a 15,000-s.f. residential renovation in Brooklyn, NY; Project Manager for the Tommy Hilfiger Flagship Store in Beverly Hills, CA; and Project Manager for the Unicorn Corporate Headquarters in London, KY.

Other Professional Experience:

Project Architect for the 180,000-s.f., $95 million Maryland Center for the Performing Arts at the University of Maryland in College Park; Project Manager for the 200,000-s.f., $43 million Student Recreation Center, also at Maryland; and Project Manager for the Richie Coliseum Student Center, a $7.5 million renovation/expansion of a 60-year-old sports arena at the University of Maryland.

Project Architect for the $10 million renovation/expansion of two 70-year-old Newcomb College Art Department buildings designed by James Gamble Rogers at Tulane University.

Project Manager for the 150,000 s.f., $18 million 1501 M Street office building in Washington, DC.